"Giant" hole, also known as "Dead Man's Hole," the Tri-Cities' summer swimming hole, claimed the life of a 44-year-old Madison man. The hole, fed by spring water, which keeps the water at very cold temperatures, is in the deep, narrow ravine. The deep holes cause swimmers to drown easily and several drownings are reported there each year.

Department's productivity assailed

By Bob Slatke
Staff writer

Half of the time, the Granite City street department is doing nothing, according to a report by the chairman of the City Council.

Alderman Dan Parney Tuesday night released a three-year analysis of the costs and operations of the street department. Included in the report is a full-page breakdown of "non-productive costs" incurred by the city relating to the street department payroll and benefits.

Parney had also compiled the report from figures provided by Street Superintendent Clayton "Jug" Harrison and the controller's office.

The bottom line, according to the report, is that 50 percent of the city's 1991-92 payroll cost associated with the street department is pay for non-productive time.

The 50 percent figure is an improvement over the 1990-91 non-productive cost of 51 percent, and the 1989-90 figure of 52 percent, according to the report.

Harrison, who was recuperating Wednesday from outpatient surgery, said he had not had a chance to read the report and had no comment.

The City Council asked Harrison to report to them in 30 days with either recommendations he may have to better streamline operations or a statement that he is satisfied with the status quo.

"The city simply can't afford this type of a situation," Parney said. He compared the street department to a private construction company with a $2 million payroll budget.

"A private company that operates with a 50 percent overhead is going to be out of business," Parney said.

According to the report, the street department's "non-productive" costs last year were $560,883, while the total payroll for the department, including benefits, was $1,131,679.

Parolee charged in beating

By Bob Slatke
Staff writer

A 37-year-old Venice man, charged Monday with the attempted first-degree murder of his girlfriend, was paroled from prison less than four months ago and had returned to this area in the past two weeks, police believe.

Alee Peppers, of the 100 block of Abbott Street, Venice, was charged with attempted first-degree murder in a warrant issued Monday. Peppers is alleged to have beaten his girlfriend, Pamela Thurman, 43, of the same address, about the head with a baseball bat and to have stabbed her with a pitchfork early Saturday morning, police said.

Peppers was being held Wednesday in the Madison County Jail in lieu of $150,000 bond. Thurman was in a coma and later died at St. Louis University Hospital Tuesday afternoon, police said.

Her condition was upgraded to serious Wednesday morning, a hospital spokesman said. She was transferred to the St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where she had earlier been taken by Campbell's Ambulance.

Airport issue may get on ballot

By Martin Richter
Staff writer

Proponents of establishing a Lakeside Airport Authority have gathered enough signatures to place the issue on the November ballot, an area attorney said. Wednesday.

"I think we need 500 signatures. We have more than that, I'm sure," said Granite City attorney Morris Chapman, who has two airplanes at the site. "We should move [the airport] to the Madison County Court" the next day or so. We want to be on the November ballot," he said.

The airport, which is currently a grass airstrip used by only a few planes, is located on the east end of Illinois 100, across from Horseshoe Lake State Park. It is owned by the estate of Bill Nichols, who died in 1989.

The issue was placed on the ballot on Nov. 6, 1990, but was narrowly defeated. The vote was 8,156 to 7,391.

Chapman said the effort to establish an airport authority is

Foster family brings joy to woman's life

McDowell resident Carroll Sullivan wasn't completely satisfied with her life in 1983.

"She was living alone — her three children had grown and left home — and she needed to start the next phase of her life. Carroll called on her neighbor's home, which was bristling with children and family activities, and one of those visits changed her life," he said.

"My neighbors suggested I needed the patter of little feet in my home again. She thought that would perk me up," Sullivan said.

Two years later, Sullivan contacted Mrs. Mary Alice Heardsley at Catholic Charities and I've been a foster mother ever since.

April 1 was the final day for Sullivan to be called a foster mother. She adopted her fifth foster child, and her family is complete.

"I am so happy to have these kids," Sullivan said while she waited outside the courtroom at the City Hall in Granite City.

"I adopted a family of four children, two brothers and two sisters, in December 1989 and now Corletha."

Sullivan, a nurse aide at St. Elizabeth Medical Center for 16 years, was hospitalized during the year, with patients on the medical unit, while the children are in school. But her work doesn't stop there.

In addition to Sullivan, the children wait for Sullivan's silver station wagon to pull up.

John, 15; Daniella, 14; Louis, 10; Shamie, 8; and Corletha, 5, are the end result of Sullivan's adoption of the five children.

The station wagon is the result of months of family prayers.

"I couldn't afford a new car, but I had to have something,"

Sullivan said. "So every night the children and I would pray for a way to get a car."

"A few weeks later, my brother who has since passed away, sent me a check for Christmas and we got our car."

Hopes, prayers and love are

Underground oil cleanup is planned

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

"Love may not pay the bills, but the Granite City school district is hoping LUST will," he said.

According to Jim Landman, director of buildings and grounds, the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency has been asked to use its LUST, Leaking Underground Storage Tanks fund, to reimburse the district for all $10,000 of the cost to remove soil contaminated by a leaking underground oil tank at the former Nameoki School.

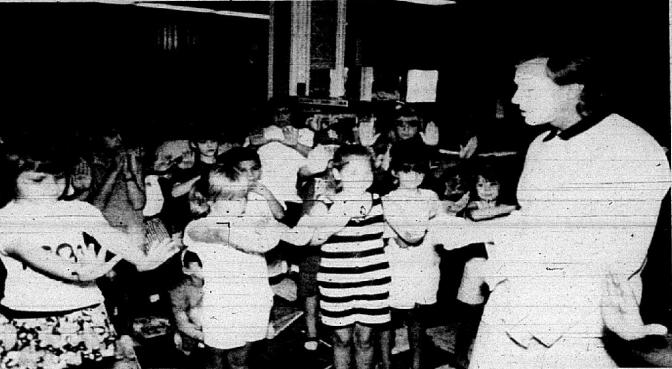

The problem, Landman told the school board Tuesday, is that the district must pay all of the bills, and the LUST fund for reimbursement after the project is completed.

Landman said the cost will be "a whole bunch more" than $10,000 and told the members of the school board to tell them that "you will be getting some really big bills in connection with this project" and asked

Layoffs may be part of 'major' restructuring at Shell Oil

ROXANA — Layoffs or retirements may be part of a "major" restructuring at Shell Oil Co.'s Wood River Manufacturing Complex that is expected to be announced in the next two weeks.

"We can't deny the rumors, but we have no specifics," Shell spokeswoman Tura Condon-Tullier said.

After a downturn in earnings in the last several quarters, "the oil industry as a whole is looking at restructuring," she said.

Like most companies, Shell is looking at operating leaner and leaner, she added.

Sources said up to 200 employees may be laid off or retired and some hourly foremen may be bumped back to union gangs or lose seniority under plans being discussed.

Under the plans — known as minimal Shell involvement — non-union staff, management and outside contractors may also be affected, sources said.

Senior officials have been meeting the last two weeks to work out details, sources said.

The downturn in oil earnings is tied to softer demand for refined products, particularly for crude oil in world markets, Shell officials said.

Layoffs in Shell's petroleum-related businesses cut total company employees to 29,500 at the end of 1991, a decrease of 8 percent.

"We're looking at cost-cutting, but a work force reduction is one of many options," spokeswoman Eddy Penegely of Shell Oil in Houston said. "The restructuring is not limited to the Roxana plant. The 18-month process began in July 1991."

Union officials representing the 430 members of Operating Engineers Local 325, the largest of a half dozen unions at Shell in Roxana, said they had not been part of what Shell called "streamlining."

"Nothing has been verified," Local 325 Secretary Larry Fultz said, adding the company has promised answers soon.

"We acknowledge the rumors are going around, but we have no specifics. The reorganization may include some layoffs, but hopefully, we can avoid that," Condon-Tullier said. "We don't anticipate any layoffs, and that's good news."

Shell employs 1,350 at the manufacturing complex, including the Roxana refinery.

A decision could come within the next several weeks, Condon-Tullier said, and employees will be notified first of possible changes.

"At this point, it's total speculation on what can happen," she said. "We have no final word, but discussions are continuing."

Farmers fight state mandates

Farmers are taking more than pigs, cows and vegetables to Illinois county fairs this year, by taking petitions.

The Illinois Farm Bureau has just begun a statewide effort to collect signatures urging legislators to require the state, rather than local, ultimately, property owners to pay for programs required by state laws.

Since farmers often pay taxes on a great deal of land, the drive is beginning at county fairs.

In Madison County, farmer David Highlander and Farm Bureau members took petitions to the fair held in Highland.

"It's going good. When people become aware of what we're doing, they say, 'I'm for that.' It sounds like a good cause and that's sign. No one's turned us down."

About 100 have signed so far, and anyone interested can stop by the Farm Bureau office at 501 Hillsboro Ave. in Edwardsville.

Highlander is the vice president of the Madison County Farm Bureau.

He said each county has a goal of collecting 1,000 signatures. Petitions will be given to legislators and candidates at the end of October, in time for discussion before the Nov. 3 election.

"Farmers are trying to tell legislators that, if they are going to mandate programs, they should find another way to pay for it," Highlander said.

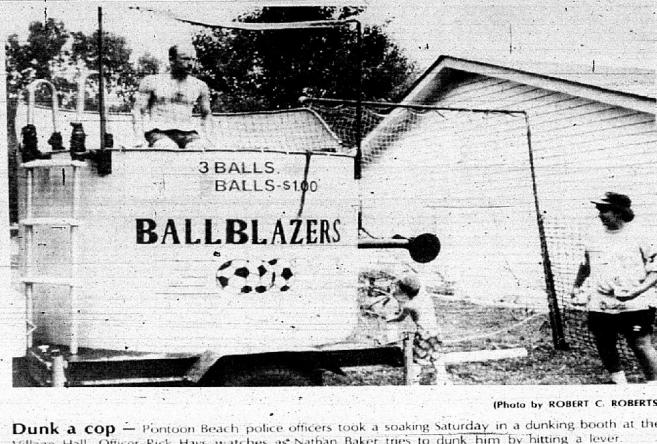

"State government is not funding share of education costs, even though Highlander said, it often mandates programs school districts cannot afford."

He said he believed the state requires counties to fund the judicial system, retirement funds for public employees, Social Security costs for local school employees, state employees held in the pension and liability insurance to cover lawsuits.

"Farmers have more land but this not only affects farmers; it affects every homeowner. Taxes are high enough in general. Property owners are paying disproportionately."

The property tax reform petitions state such "mandated programs" reduce local government's ability to adequately fund and provide essential local services such as police, fire protection, health services and education.

Madison County Bureau Director of Government Finance Dick McKain said, "This issue is a litmus test with candidates to raise their awareness of one of the Farm Bureau's priorities for the new legislature."

Humane Society still needs money

By Nicole Vaughn

Staff writer

A year ago, Madison County Humane Society officials were disheartened by a zoning board hearing that led to a "no" vote on granting a special use permit to the society to build its own shelter on Marine Road.

This week — one year after the hearing held on the proposed site of the shelter, the society is finally completed plans for the shelter. The zoning board's recommendation was overruled.

VanKavage said special

Board meeting

"We're excited about all of the planning but we still need a lot more money," said Ledy VanKavage, president of the MCHS. She said the society has about $128,000 in its account and needs an estimated $300,000 to build the shelter.

However, VanKavage said once the design is completed, she hopes to reduce the cost by seeking donated or discounted labor for the project.

VanKavage said special fund-raisers are also being planned to benefit the shelter. One event, a walk-a-thon, will be held at Southern Illinois university at Edwardsville on Sept. 19.

The shelter — which is to include 20 dog pens, four cages for puppies and 30 to 40 cat cages — will be built on an almost 1-acre site near the Madison County Animal Control Center. The property was transferred to the society from the county last June.

The society currently rents three dog pens and nine cat cages from the county's animal control center.

VanKavage said 70 to 80 percent of the animals destroyed by the society are adopted but that the society is forced to pick only those animals they feel they can find a home for because of their limited space.

Motor fuel tax funds are allocated

Madison County has received $208,344 in motor fuel tax funds as its share of funds paid into the state treasury during May, according to the Illinois Department of Transportation.

Motor fuel tax funds are allocated monthly to the various counties in Illinois for their highway needs.

$3,000 grant is awarded for head lice program medication

Tri-Cities Area United Way has awarded a $3,000 grant to provide medication to area school children infected with head lice.

Every year nearly three million Americans, mostly school children, get head lice. According to public health reports, the incidence of head lice infestation has been increasing. More and more children are being removed from the classroom to prevent the spread of these pesky parasites.

Granite City School District reported 14 individual cases of head lice during the 1991/92 school year. Madison and Venice schools also reported sending numerous children home from school because of lice.

Classes are routine head checks as a method to detect and prevent the spread of head lice. Children found having head lice must be sent home until they are lice free.

Nancy Mathews, a Granite City School social worker, applied to United Way for a grant to assist parents with the purchase of special shampoos designed to kill head lice. She reported that many children were missing excessive amounts of school because families lacked the means to purchase the shampoos and other items needed to kill the lice. Even in severe cases, experts say children should miss no more than three days of school.

Steve Burdige, manager of The Medicine Shoppe at 3715 Nameoki Road, offered to provide the medication at cost. The grant is expected to cover the project needs for all the area school children in the Tri-Cities area during the next school year. Requests for the medicated shampoo and lice spray can be made through a school nurse or school administrator.

A softball tournament between teams of adults and students will be sponsored by the newly formed Granite City Regional Excitement in New Directions chapter. The chapter is composed of 7th and 8th grade students from Granite City schools who are interested in implementing community drug-free lifestyle activities.

Prizes will be awarded to winning teams.

because of cut backs, most of them aren't hiring either. And with the layoffs occurring, such as McDonald's, Douglas the technical fields are flooded too.

Other fields which have seen growth include computer science, accounting, business, psychology and audiology. Even some education majors: math, science, special education, reading and two certifications in areas like Spanish and history are in high demand.

"Their success depends on how hard they try," said Kettler. "Some hear in the media that the market's tight and there are no jobs, so some don't try. They just stay in the part-time jobs they had while in school."

To make the search a little easier during these scarce times Walker suggests some advance preparation:

"Your job search begins the day you graduate. Start doing some market research and when you have six months left begin notifying contacts that you are looking for a job until graduation. To begin the job hunt might find it takes three to six months to find work."

But both Kettler and Walker agree that it's just harder to find. You have to keep an open mind; be flexible in job choices and location; and in some cases be willing to settle for less. "I say in exchange for a foot in the door."

Powell knows each day brings them closer to the start of the new school year, which makes the pressure to find work mount. Since she doesn't want a job by fall, she'll work as a substitute teacher to expand her experience and contacts.

As for Byers, she hasn't been seriously looking just yet. She's banking on an available position with the school she's been assisting at. Byers said she'll wait until after the school year is over to begin looking for a job. She plans to move to Granite City in August to hit the job market with full force.

"It doesn't surprise me that I don't have a job yet," she said. "I'm not the only one that's easily defeated. I know my qualities and capabilities. I know there's a place for me in the future, so I don't let it get me down."

Brochure lists tourist activities

The Southwestern Illinois Tourism and Convention Bureau recently released a new four-color brochure and map of the eight counties in Southwestern Illinois served by the bureau.

The brochure covers the counties of Bond, Clinton, Fayette, Madison, Monroe, Randolph, St. Clair and Washington.

It includes such sites as the St. Clair County Historical Society's Museum House and Historic District in Belleville and the Mermaid House in Lebanon.

This is the first time a comprehensive brochure and map have ever been done on the area, said Mark Westhoff, bureau director of sales and marketing.

THE LAW AND YOU

By RICK REED
Attorney At Law

During the pendency of a lawsuit, the attorney for the defendant may wish to take an "elective" deposition. In a deposition, the party being deposed answers questions under oath before a court reporter. Frequently, clients inquire about the importance of the attorney's presence during the deposition.

Attorneys "take" depositions for several reasons. In the first place, the attorney is able to gather information about the case from the defendant—information which may be helpful in trial. In addition, the testimony given in a deposition can be used for impeachment purposes. This means that at trial the attorney can use the testimony in the deposition to show the credibility of the witness.

Finally, several Illinois cases stand for the proposition that assertions made in a deposition can be used as a basis for a motion for summary judgment. If a court grants a summary judgment, it may decide that the deposition is unnecessary.

In one recent case, a man was employed by the U.S. Postal Service for 12 years when he fell from a loading dock. He eventually filed suit against the architect of the loading dock.

The architect claimed in his deposition that he fell over rubber bumper strips which were used to prevent hand trucks from rolling off the loading dock. He apparently meant to say that he tripped over metal plates which were below the electrically charged loading dock. The company he sued manufactured the metal plates rather than the rubber bumper strips.

The attorney for the defendant filed a motion for summary judgment, asserting that his client neither designed the rubber bumper strips nor supervised their construction. The attorney for the plaintiff responded to this motion by submitting an affidavit indicating that his client had returned to the accident site, and he now realized that he had tripped over metal plates rather than rubber bumpers. The court granted the motion for summary judgment, holding that the plaintiff had stated clearly in his deposition that he tripped over rubber bumper strips. In this case, the plaintiff failed to recover money for his injuries due to his confusion in the deposition.

Pre-tickets available for TREND swimming activity next Friday third and the summer activity of the Granite City TREND chapter will be a swimming pool party held at Paddlers on Friday, Aug. 7, from 9 p.m. to 11 p.m.

The theme of this event is "Summer Fun" and it will include swimming, volleyball, attendance prizes, and refreshments.

Kay Rollins, of Parents Plus, chairperson of the TREND Committee, said, "For this TREND event only, students who plan to attend must have pre-tickets and have their names on the attendance list prior to the event."

Pre-tickets to the pool party will require a $1 donation and can be picked up from me at the School District 9 Board of Education offices, 20th and Adams Streets from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. on Thursday, July 30.

All community teens who will be in the 7th or 8th grades in the 1992-93 school year at Condit, Griggsville, or St. Elizabeth school are invited to become charter members of TREND. Anyone attending one or more of the three summer events will be considered a charter member.

The Granite City TREND chapter was organized this summer as one of the activities in the $30,000 Police Department grant toward the construction of a Abuse-St. Louis to make TREND a reality. Funded by a grant from the Monsanto Fund, TREND became a community-wide program in the fall of 1991.

In addition to funding support from the Police Department grant, the chapter received $500 from the United Way Youth Board to be used for activities.

The first two TREND activities were dances held on June 27 and July 24 at the Township Hall. The pool party on Aug. 7 will conclude the summer schedule.

The first event of the school year will be a September pool night at Bowland Charter members will help plan events throughout the school year and into the summer months.

The Granite City TREND chapter provides 7th and 8th grade students with an alternative to alcohol and drug situations—an opportunity to celebrate sober, meet new friends, and have fun while supporting network with other chapters.

TREND, an acronym for Turning Recreational Excitement in New Directions, is a movement created by teens who are frustrated by the current "party scene." These students felt a lack of opportunity to socialize without the pressure to drink and use other drugs.

Persistent in their desire to celebrate sober, these "TREND-setters" worked closely with the prevention side of the Illinois Department on Alcoholism and Drug Abuse-St. Louis to make TREND a reality. Funded by a grant from the Monsanto Fund, TREND became a community-wide program in the fall of 1991.

Membership is limited to students with an overall grade point average of 2.0 or higher, a 4.0 in science and a GPA of 3.2 or better in English courses. Faculty in the Illinois College Department of Biology presided over the induction ceremony.

Beta Beta Beta is one of eight national honorary fraternities and societies that have local chapters on the Illinois College campus in Jacksonville.

On Aug. 3, the third preschool-child care center of Toddle Towne Learning Centers will open in Pontoon Beach.

Although Toddle Towne Learning Centers are new to the Granite City/Pontoon Beach area, they have been in operation since 1987 in East Alton and Alton.

Toddle Towne Learning Centers Inc. is purchasing a site at 4008 Pontoon Road from the First Baptist Church.

The existing building is to be renovated by Barjier Construction for the child care center.

The initial permit will be for 50 children with expansion to 90

children planned.

The center, which will be licensed by the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services, will have children from 15 months to five years of age with year-round full-day programs of child care and early education.

Programs for school-aged children will be provided before and

Homeless animals to be remembered

In 1991, 2,731 dogs and 1,584 cats were killed at Madison County Animal Control. Approximately 1,000 of the animals were killed in shelters across the U.S. in 1991.

On Saturday, Aug. 22, 243 humane societies across the United States will hold a candlelight vigil to remember homeless animals.

The Madison County Humane Society will hold a vigil in front of the Madison County Courthouse on Main Street in Edwardsville. The vigil will begin at 6 p.m.

The public is asked to join the Madison County

Humane Society in remembering the animals who have fallen victim to the dog and cat overpopulation crisis.

Participants are encouraged to bring their dogs — on leads, of course.

BAC offers new data base course in fall

A new advanced data base applications course, dBBase Application Programming (CIS 299-10), will be offered this fall at the Belleville Campus of Belleville Area College.

The course will address how to create dBBase applications for retailing, business, and government, said Jim Busick, part-time BAC instructor.

It picks up where CIS 131 and CIS 141 (Data Base Management/Micro and Advanced Data Base Management/Micro) leave off.

The three-credit-hour course is designed for students who have a working knowledge of dBBase or an equivalent experience, and qualifies as an elective toward an associate and bachelor's degree in computer information systems.

The 16-week course will meet from 7 to 9:50 p.m. on Thursdays, beginning Aug.

Prerequisite is $96 for the course.

Persons may register by telephone, 235-2700, extension 452, or toll-free 1-800-BAC-5131, extension 455, or at the Belleville Campus, 2500 Carlyle Road, from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday and from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Friday.

The course would be beneficial for persons who are employed as information managers, including those who work with inventories, rosters, mailing lists, and documentation, said Busick.

Students may use business situations from their jobs as in-class projects.

The instruction will be very heavy hands-on, said Busick, a systems analyst with Computer Sciences Corp. in Fairview Heights.

The students are going to learn by doing. Instead of dealing with lectures and a great deal of theory, we're going to concentrate on practical applications of dBBase.

Triplets' won't stop ride anytime soon

High school-age kids shouldn't be spouting off guaranteeing victory. So I'll do it for them. The District 22 Triplets will be in all likelihood win the Fifth Division Tournament in Herrin. Those of you who are so inclined can make hotel reservations in Decatur for the state tournament in two weeks. The ride is just beginning.

This column is no excuse for the players to get overconfident, and you can't rip me for it if it does. But Monday's 10-2 win over Alton got the ball rolling towards state, where Post 113 would like to improve slightly on last year's second-place finish in Goshen.

"I don't care if it's a state title, a national championship or anything, a team needs to win a game, it's not supposed to win somewhere along the way," said Triplets' coach Ralph Burnett. "We got that one Monday and now we've regrouped as a team."

The 12-0 manhandling of Collinsville on Tuesday was reminiscent of 1991, when the ultra-efficient Triplets methodically rubbed out the opposition all the way to the state finals. It seems to be a pattern.

"We could almost count on a shutout or only-one-run allowed almost every game last year with Drake (Marshall), Brian (Harschany) and Richie (Scharf) pitching," said Tom Reeves, who now has two straight shutouts himself. "There's more pressure on Drake, me, Billy (Van Buskirk) and Chris (Hill), though, because we won on that team. He's starting to feel that way again."

Everything's double elimination for the Legion playoffs, but the Triplets didn't lose a game in District 22 or Fifth Division competition in 1991. That could very well happen again, this summer. But the triplets' Post team in the South Division will likely be the main obstacle between here and Decatur in the weeks to come.

But unless Legion baseball has improved greatly in deep southern Illinois in the last 12 months, the Triplets will be in the post-a-project Post 113 outscoring the opposition 85-12 in last year's carnage at Fairfield. It has to be a little closer in Herrin next week, but not enough to change the outcome.

"A bunch of our guys who were with the Junior Legion last year didn't realize how many steps (13) there were to winning the state title," said Burnett. "It's important to them, and it should be important to them to take care of themselves at this time of year."

"A bunch of them were coming up to the Collinsville-Alton game (Wednesday night) to know what they'll be up against Thursday. Ben Hicks and John Cozier were here studying how to work out for as long as we take on that personality, there's no reason to stop."

They won't stop for at least two weeks.

Salty Parker dies; 58 years in pro baseball

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

Francis James "Salty" Parker was born Monday in Houston, where he had been ill with cancer for two years. An obituary appeared in Wednesday's Journal.

Born in East St. Louis in 1933, Parker was a Granite City High School graduate in the late 1950s and went on to spend all or parts of 36 seasons in professional baseball as a player, coach, minor league instructor, scout and manager. His only taste of big league playing experience came in 1936 when he batted .290 in 21 games for the Detroit Tigers. He had two doubles and four RBI during that brief stint.

He managed the New York Mets to the final 10 games of the 1967 season after Wes Westrum was fired, and had a 4-6 record. The new Mets manager was Gil Hodges, who oversaw the "Amazin' Mets" of 1969.

Parker was named to the Granite City Sports Hall of Fame in 1979 and the Illinois Hall of Fame in 1981. One of the leagues in the Granite City Park District youth baseball program is called the Salty Parker League.

Parker spent his best playing seasons in minor league ball in Texas. He batted .349 for Marcellus in the Texas League in 1940, leading the league in batting and doubles. As a shortstop, he also led the league in fielding, putouts and double plays and was named to the league all-star team.

Parker was still playing as late as 1954, although he had begun miffling as early as 1939 with Lubbock of the West Texas-New Mexico District. As a manager, he finished in first place three times. His best team was probably Dallas of the Texas AA League in 1957, which went 102-64. He was also the Midwest League Manager of the Year in 1965 when his Cedar Rapids (Iowa) team went 79-53, but lost a playoff with Quad Cities for the division championship.

His major league coaching career included stints with the San Francisco Giants (1956-61, 1979), Cleveland Indians (1962), Pittsburgh Pirates (1963-65), Los Angeles (California) Angels (1964-66, 1973), New York Mets (1967) and the Houston Astros (1968-72). He also served as a minor league instructor with the Giants (1977-86) and the Seattle Mariners (1986-87) before retiring after the 1987 season.

At all, Parker spent time in 24 different minor and minor league cities during his career, with a 1,308-1,183 record as a minor league manager.

His brother, Charlie, still lives in Granite City and is a frequent spectator at many Granite City High School sporting events. Another brother, Ken, lives in Joliet. Salty's wife of 53 years, Thelma, died last year. Three daughters and a son, along with eight grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

He got the nickname Salty because of his love for salted peanuts. According to his nephew, Dave Parker of the Journal-Herald-News, the loss of his wife and the onset of cancer didn't thwart Salty's zest for living. Dave Parker wrote a few

Reeves' shutout puts Post 113 in command of North playoffs

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

He didn't want to come right out and say it, but Ralph Burnett knew Tuesday's game was in the bag before the first pitch was thrown.

After watching Ryan Reeves warm up in the bullpen more than watching the Triplets take infield practice, the Post 113 manager knew his team was primed for Collinsville in the winner's bracket game of the District 22 North Division playoffs at Varsity Field.

Reeves had a 10-0 shellacking of Post 365 which puts the Triplets one win away from their second straight division title and their third in five years.

Alton edged Edwardsville 4-3 in eight innings in the loser's bracket game. Post 113 outscored Post 365, Dan Osborne singled home winning pitcher Shawn Boucher to score Post 113's decisive run.

"That's the best (pre-game) infield we've had all year," said Burnett. "We didn't have one ball away, and everybody was really into it. And when I saw the way Ryan was throwing in the bullpen, I knew (Collinsville) wasn't going to get anything."

Burnett frayed his record at 3-2 by allowing only two hits and striking out eight in six innings.

Chris Hill allowed one hit and struck out seven in the second game. The Triplets (23-10) took firm control of the tournament. They will play the winner of Wednesday night's Collinsville-Alton game at 7:30, with Ben Hicks (5-1) on the mound. Even if Post 113 loses tonight, Collinsville or Alton would have to come back Friday and beat the Triplets again.

"It's hard not to be overconfident," said Burnett. "But we won't be."

The Triplets might have been served a wakeup call Monday when sheer luck handed them a 4-3 win over Alton.

Mon-Clair League faces tough questions

By Mike Kelly
Staff writer

The Mon-Clair League could be heading for rough waters in the future.

The semipro baseball league is facing some serious questions this season. Rumors have it that certain teams might not be seen. Topping the list is Edwardsville, which has been beset by financial problems and player defections.

"I seriously doubt we'll be back next year," said Edwardsville player/manager Ralph Jackson. "The young players aren't willing to make a commitment and the economic times are making it tough to find the necessary money to run the team."

But we're not the only ones in this situation."

The most obvious other case is Waterloo, which players who have won just one of 22 league games this summer, forfeited a double-header May 25 and have had problems finding nine players all season. League president Mel Patton isn't ready to press the panic button.

"We're not even close to the caution zone," he said. "I feel the league as a whole is in pretty good shape. We plan on continuing even stronger next season."

Patton plans on adding another team and increasing the schedule.

Festus (Mo.) has approached us about joining the league next year," he said. "That will give us 12 teams. We've mainly kept to the east side of the river, but we're looking for participation on the west side that could solidify our position."

"We're going to stay with our Sunday doubleheaders, but we might add some weekday games. I believe there are enough parks with lights that will give us that luxury. We shouldn't have too many problems."

lents making this transition."

Another possibility is merging with the Mon-Clair League.

"We discussed that issue on and off for the last two years," Patton said. "But nothing's materialized. I'm not saying it won't happen down the road, but it's not on our immediate agenda."

According to Patton, Trenton has shown a strong interest in joining the Mon-Clair League.

"They've approached us," he said. "I think they're serious if they leave the Clinton County League, it might fold. They're the stan-

But Morris is the first to admit that if he steps down, Waterloo might fold.

"It's a shame," he said. "But it's the truth. I don't think there's anyone around here that will put that kind of money into the league for the years to come."

Patton feels there is fresh blood waiting in the wings.

"We suffered through a forgettable season last year, but they regrouped. Thanks to Woody Moad, that team has its feet solidly on the ground. The toughest part of the game is finding a strong business manager."

But everyone is as optimistic as Patton.

"We hope the league sticks around," Jackson said. "But the future doesn't look very promising."

Semipro baseball is competing with the collegiate leagues and softball. A lot of players aren't willing to give up their summer after working so hard in a college program. They're afraid of that."

The league must make some changes in the entire structure is going to fold in a hurry."

"I don't buy that," Patton said. "No one can predict the future, but I like our chance."

"It's good baseball and I'm sure we'll be here many years. I'm confident this league will continue to prosper."

On to Khouri nationals — The Mitchel Khouri League Elks Junior Team qualified for the Khouri League Junior National Tournament by winning district and state tournaments recently. The tournaments were held in Godfrey on July 18 and July 26. Team members are: front row left to right, Josh Blumer, T.J. Slay, Dewayne Blakely, Shawn McCaslin, Jamie Kirby and Rob Odum; back row, coach Aaron Ratcliff, Chris Janek, Chip Ashford, Corey Dickerson, coach Dave Slay, Terry Prather, Mike Ratcliff, Eric Hahn and Dan Kavich. Not pictured are Chris Mitchell and coach John Janek. On July 18, the Elks won the district with 12-0 and 18-2 wins over Godfrey Marquette. Dickerson threw a no-hitter in the first game and Ratcliff had a 3-hitter in the second game. On July 26, the Elks beat Decatur ADM 7-0, as Dickerson got the win again. They will play the Kentucky state champion in the first round of the nationals Saturday at 9 a.m. in DuQuoin.

Missed opportunities cost Junior Triplets in final

By Henry Correspondent

Saturday's Junior Legion state final between O'Fallon and Granite-City could have ended a lot sooner had either team taken advantage of numerous scoring opportunities.

But as it was, the teams made up for their shortcomings in the first nine innings by combining to score five in the tenth with O'Fallon prevailing 3-2.

Here are some of the best chances:

O'Fallon 4th — After a hard field strike out and Jeff Ridenour's error on Andy Roe singles and Jason Black walks. Both move up on a wild pitch and Sean Lakatos walks to put the pressure on O'Fallon pitcher Jeff Sonsoucie. But Sonsoucie fans Scott Nemeth for one of his 15 strikeouts.

O'Fallon 5th — Brian Funk and Sonsoucie single with one out. Brian's third walk is un-souiced at second, but reaches and Funk goes to third. Mark Winfield gets Rob Reinheimer to ground to short to end the threat.

O'Fallon 5th — With one out, Mike Neri reaches on an error, but is out at second on Bill Bequette's fielder's choice. Scott Sepp reaches on Robert Reinheimer's fielder's choice. Neri to load the bases, but gets Funk to pop up to Black for the third out.

Granite City 6th — Ridenour doubles to right with one out,

Mark Winfield Jeff Ridenour

Re is intentionally walked to get to Black. A wild pitch puts runners at second and third, but Black pops to Sepp. Black follows with a line to center where Neri makes a diving catch.

O'Fallon 7th — Cory Alexander reaches on an error by Reinheimer and has to run to second. Bequette then hits a liner to left-center to apparently win the game. But Ridenour makes an unbelievable diving catch to send the game into extra innings.

O'Fallon 8th — Funk leads off with a double and Sonsoucie is walked intentionally. Northway goes around to Lakatos, who starts a snappy 4-3 double play to dodge another bullet.

The two finalists had six players named to the 12-player all-tournament team.

O'Fallon had three of the four pitchers named to the squad. Tournement Most Valuable Player Jeff Sonsoucie (24, 1.84 ERA) struck out 35 in two games, spanning 19 innings. Dan O'Keefe was 1-0 with one save.

and had an 0.81 ERA in his two appearances. Curt Foppe (2-0, 1.32 ERA) fanned 14 in 16 2/3 innings of work. Brian Funk (8 for 21, .380) made the team as the shortstop.

Granite City had two players make the team, Mark Winfield and Jeff Ridenour. Winfield (11, 15 IP, 1.40 ERA) no-hitted Highland in the second game and was the hard-luck loser in the finale. Ridenour (6 for 17, .353) played spectacular defense in center field and also anchored the Junior Triplets' bunting order.

With the exception of a double play today for O'Fallon in regional action in St. Louis, he was one of three players O'Fallon was unable to pick up for the tournament.

Children a challenge in making 'Honey'

By Harry Hamm

Correspondent

Actress Marcia Strassman, who stars in "Honey, I Blew Up the Kid," predicted the 1989 family comedy, "Honey, I Shrunk the Kids," would be a hit if the special effects were the very best possible.

Strassman's assessment turned out to be the case.

The special effects were terrific and the film had an opening weekend gross of $14.3 million. It turned out to be the second-greatest gross ever given to a film in the till for 1989, making it one of the most successful box office hits of that year.

In this year's sequel, "Honey, I Blew Up the Kid," Strassman stars with Rick Moranis. Strassman says special effects continue to be important, but a "special new hurdle" was also added.

The sequel deals with a 3-year-old son who is shrunk to 12 feet tall when he's accidentally zapped by a laser beam. Strassman says when you're trying to do a scene with a child that age, normal communications are often impossible.

As is usually the case in movies where very small children play key parts, twins were used and adopted. But Blown Up's own son, set with a 2-year-old is that, unless they've acted before, they've never been in front of a camera, they've never seen a sound stage or a crew before.

"Consequently, if you were in a scene with the baby and they got what they wanted from the baby, everything else was secondary. As an actor you had to really be good, but all the time," Strassman says.

"Sometimes they would take a take and I would ask to do it again because I didn't feel I did my best, and that's what would be bad, we got what we wanted from the kid."

Strassman, who is the mother of a 5-year-old herself, says mommies like Horace Vandergelder in "The Kid" are important because there are so few movies available for children of that age group. Familiarity is a key issue with kids, Strassman says.

"They want to hear the same tapes in the car constantly, they want to watch the same videos over and over again, and the same thing when they go to the movies," she says. "It's a good idea to go to see the same movie three, four or five times."

"I know with my daughter, we just go back and back again to the same movie," Strassman says.

"And with a 5-year-old, you just can't drop them off. So parents go and end up sitting through the picture again with the kids. I think these factors are important because the first film so successful at the box office and will most likely do the same thing for this one."

Strassman says the first sequel's new work in feature films for her. Not realizing what a hit the first picture would be, Strassman signed to do a television series called "Booker" right after she finished work on the

are made and what choices I've grasped," Strassman says. Disney Studios has told her that if this sequel does well at the box office, there will be a third film in the series.

"Maybe they'll call it, 'Honey, I Shrunk the Clothes,'" Strassman says. "Then I'll see what offers

This time, Strassman says she hasn't planned to do any new projects for a while.

Firehouse promotes 'other side' to its music

By Alan Sculley

Correspondent

When the members of Firehouse chose a first single from the group's new CD, "Hold Your Fire," they chose to send a message to music fans.

The group saw its 1990

self-titled debut solo part 2 million in sales, and the chart of singer C.J. Snare called the disc "swimmin'."

Two hits singles, "Don't Treat Me Bad" and "Love Of A Lifetime,"

So it was time for a little image change.

The last record had one ballad on it, "Love Of A Lifetime," and people thought, "Well, this band hasn't been around and if we would have come first with a ballad (as a single) it would have killed it," Snare says.

We are a rock band, and we have to let people know that there is this other side to us...

The song selected to showcase that "other side" is "Hold Your Fire," For the Sky,"

the lead-hitting lead trio.

"We wanted people to know,

hey, look, we're not just about radio success or whatever,"

Snare says. "We do rock, radio first time or maybe only heard the two songs on the radio and thought, well, this is one of those commercial sell out bands."

So far, the move is paying off, for Firehouse, made up of Snare, guitarist Bill Leverty, bassist

Perry Richardson, and drummer

Mark Tosio.

In the two weeks since its release, "Hold Your Fire" has already gone gold.

As "Reactor For The Sky," indicates, "Hold Your Fire," rocks hard most of the time. Nevertheless, the next single will be "When I Look Into Your Eyes," a ballad Snare admits is meant as an "adult successor to 'Love Of A Lifetime.'

"If we had our way, it (a record) might be all what would be considered by the industry. B-sides, single sides, everything is changing, too, and the record company has some say-so. For hard rock bands to really reach a larger audience, sometimes the ballad is the most accessible song to everyone," Snare says.

Snare comments Snare said he has received from fans and record industry people, there might be a couple more strong singles on "Hold Your Fire" as well.

"Everybody seems to comment on the last song on the record," "Hold The Song." A lot of people like that one, so I have high hopes for that song," Snare says. "A lot of people also like a song called 'Get A Touch.' So I think there's probably a couple of good ones on there."

The new record was recorded during a 21-month period, just prior to the current tour.

"I don't think we felt as much pressure as maybe we could have, because of the fact that we stayed on top of things," Snare said. We didn't get behind with the songwriting, and we worked with the same producer (David Prater) and we recorded in the same studio, so it was familiar surroundings for us, pretty familiar territory."

For Snare and his band mates, the success of their records has exceeded their expectations. But Firehouse is far from an overnight success.

Formed in 1986 in Richmond, Va., as "Heat," the four members were originally local students. The group got an early break by landing an independent record deal in late 1988, which provided money to record a tape.

The owners of the tape were Mark Slaughter and Dana Strum of Slaughter who at the time were in their final days as members of the Vinnie Vincent Invasion.

Another early ally was Jon Bon Jovi. Although some articles have said Snare and his band mates first met with Bon Jovi at a concert, Snare said Bon Jovi's role has been considerably exaggerated.

"Firehouse never did anything in a business way with us at all," Snare said. "He never took a tape to a record company and said, 'Let's sign these guys.' We never had a record deal with him. It was always, I guess, he liked our music and he believed in us, and it was more of a friendly thing, more of a confidence thing, than anything else."

Such advance preparation helped keep the group members confident as they prepared to follow up on the success of their debut.

John Schuck

Actor

Schuck, 52, plays the role of Horace Vandergelder opposite Madeline Kahn in the Muny's production of "Hello Dolly" July 27 through Aug. 2.

Schuck was born in Boston. He began acting in summer stock productions while attending Denison University in Granville, Ohio.

His major credits on Broadway include an 18-month stint playing the role of Oliver Warbucks in "Annie." Schuck also has worked extensively in off-Broadway productions, regional theater and in London. His credits in film include "The Streets of New York," "The Man Who Would Be King," "Matilda," "Coy Martini," Schuck is recognized primarily by audiences as a film actor. His credits are extensive and include the movies "Star Trek IV" and "Star Trek V," "M*A*S*H," "McCabe and Mrs. Miller" and "Thieves Like Us."

Today's audiences remember Schuck as Sgt. Enright in the TV series "McMillan and Wife," starring Rock Hudson and Susan St. James. Schuck recently has appeared on shows like "Murder She Wrote," "The Young Riders," "Till Death Do Us Part" and "Four Eyes."

Schuck is married to Harrison Houle, an illustrator and painter. They live in Los Angeles. Schuck has a son from a previous marriage, and his wife has two children from a previous nuptial. Schuck said they are building a new home and trying to spend more time together at home.

If I weren't on the roarin' "Hello Dolly" I would... Be at home putting my boys to bed in our new house. We bought a small house that we're rehabbing and enlarging. So our boys are doing the drywall for me. Sometimes we're out of town with a show can have its advantages.

To me, working at the Muny... Can be a humbling experience. This is my third Muny production. I appeared in "Can Can" and "Peter Pan" in past seasons. That stage has to be one of the largest in the world. If the show starts at 8, you have to start your entrance around 7. I grow up going to tent shows in the summer on the East Coast. The Muny has the same magic as those shows but on a much grander scale.

My favorite film that I've done is: "Brewster McCloud." It's one of four movies I've done with director Robert Altman. I also remember my first screen kiss, got to give a kiss to Elizabeth Taylor in "The Taming of the Shrew."

Working with "Hello Dolly" co-star Madeline Kahn is: More fun than you might think. She's a gifted actress and very funny during rehearsals. I've always been a huge fan of Madeline.

"Hello Dolly" is special because it's the first one for today that I've done. It's a story of challenge and triumph over personal hardships. A lot of people relate to Dolly Levi's story these days, because similar things are happening to them. It remains a "feel-good" show and is very pertinent for today's audiences."
